No Apology for Criticisms, Senator McCarthy Says

Says Opinions Unchanged; Asks Senate Vote

Reads Prepared Statement After Recess for Injury

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy told the Senate today he had "no intention of hurting the feelings of anyone" but his opinions are unchanged.

He asked the Senate to vote on the censure resolution against him at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

McCarthy, his right arm bandaged to the knuckles and carried in a sling, read a prepared statement to the Senate when it recessed after taking a 10-day recess to give him time to recover from an elbow injury.

He said he had no apologies for his disagreements with Senate committees or for his criticisms of them. Two of the three censure charges lodged against him concern his alleged abuse of Senate committees that investigated him.

He said 10 "painful days" in Bethesda Naval hospital for treatment of his injured elbow gave him time to analyze the charges against him.

"They build down simply to the accusation that I have used discourtageous and offensive words—words that have injured the sensibilities of some of my colleagues," he said.

"I admit that at times I have been extremely blunt in expressing my opinions. I do not claim to be a master of words."

"This being true," his prepared statement continued, "I say to those who feel they have been offended, that I had no intention in the words that were used of hurting the feelings of anyone—but in the facts and opinions that I held, I am unchanged."

McCarthy said his statement was not "any compromise on my part with the principles I have held and which I still hold."

Nor, he said, did it constitute any letup "of my determination in the fight against communism, in or out of the government."

McCarthy spoke after Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (Utah) had for "death" of Army Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker during a hearing.

The Utah Republican filed his new charges as Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), a member of the censure committee, offered an amendment to squash the argument that censure of McCarthy would "give comfort to Communists."

Johnson proposed that additional language be added to the censure resolution to state that the Communist conspiracy "presents a death menace to the United States" and appropriate Senate committee should continue to investigate and expose it.

Grayville Man Dies in Collision

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP)—Steve S. Kramer, 23, of Grayville, was killed in a two-car head-on collision on Ill. 1 near Keensburg Sunday.

State police said Kramer's car apparently crossed into the opposite traffic lane and hit a car driven by Carl F. Gaddy, 28, Detroit. Gaddy received minor injuries. His wife, Emma, 24, was reported seriously injured.

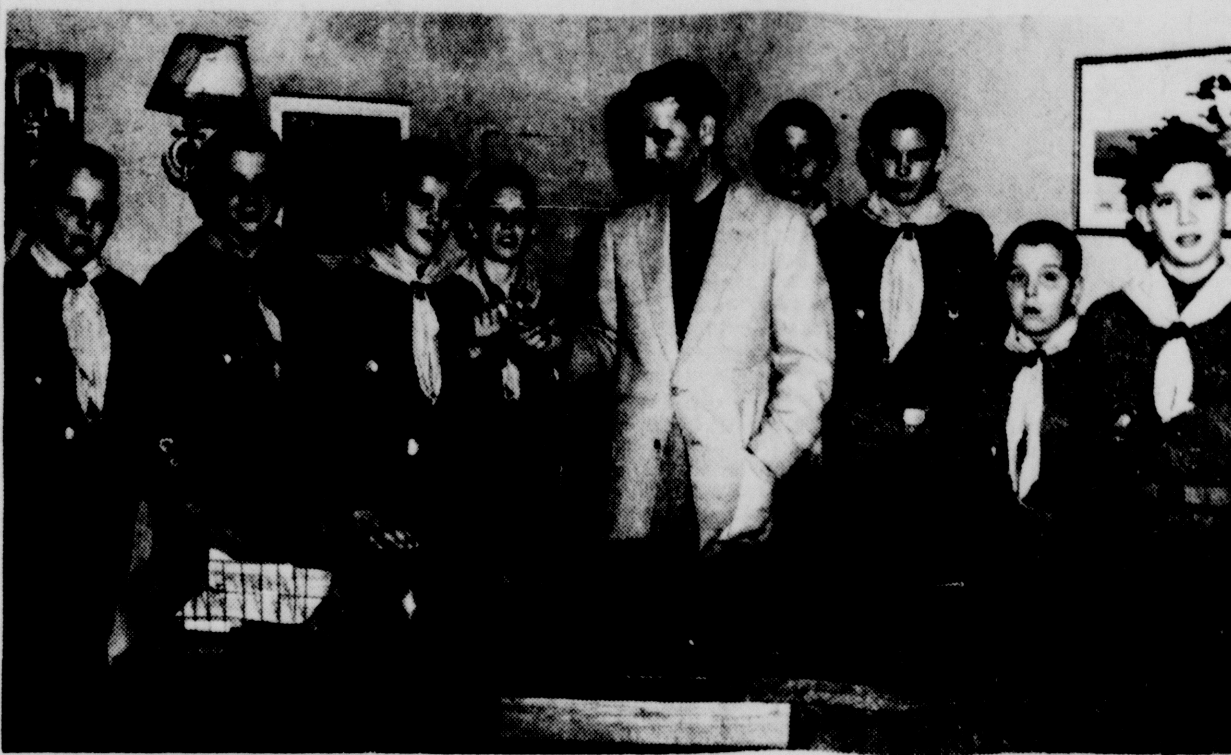

Brother-in-Law of Carrier Mills Woman Dies at Effingham

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Behrick of Carrier Mills have been called to Effingham by the death of Russell Smith, husband of Mrs. Behrick's sister, Mrs. Oma Smith, the former Miss Oma Allen of Texas City.

Mr. Smith died suddenly of a heart attack and funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon.

Widow Admits Killing Four of Five Husbands with Rat Poison

Also Suspected Of Killing Others In Her Family

TULSA (AP)—A rosy-cheeked "lonely hearts" widow who confessed poisoning four of her five husbands apparently killed them "just because they rubbed her the wrong way," authorities said today.

Mrs. Nannie Doss, 49 and pudgy, also is suspected of poisoning her mother, father, two sisters, two daughters and a step-grandson.

She gave police a gap-toothed smile Sunday night when she confessed she killed husbands No. 2, 3, 4 and 5, "the same way . . . with rat poison."

The only survivor was husband No. 1, Charles Bragg of Alabama City, Ala., who admitted fear was one reason why he divorced her in 1929 after eight years of marriage.

Tulsa County Attorney Howard Edmundson, who drew up murder charges against the plump widow today, said, "She gave us a different reason for killing every one of them."

Not For Insurance
"She would not have done it for insurance," he said. "She didn't get enough to more than pay funeral expenses. Apparently, she killed them just because they rubbed her the wrong way."

Mrs. Doss, whose teeth are separated in front, showed no remorse

Says Downstate Also in Danger In H-Bomb Attack

CHICAGO (AP)—The greatest danger to downstate residents of Illinois in case of a hydrogen bomb attack will come from radioactive fallout, Robert M. Woodward, state civil defense director, said.

Woodward said Sunday that downstate citizens should prepare at once to protect themselves from the dangers of a fall-out that could kill and cripple thousands of persons.

Previously downstate Illinois had been considered a support area to handle refugees and aid a stricken metropolitan area like Chicago in the event of a successful enemy air attack, Woodward said.

"Now, under the state civil defense interpretations of H-bomb data, virtually all Illinois becomes a possible target," Woodward said.

He said the greatest danger to downstate areas would come from a low H-bomb explosion over St. Louis or East St. Louis. Woodward said the possible fall-out would include a fan-shaped area, 160 miles long by 40 miles wide east from St. Louis.

"The possibility of bombing errors and that bombers driven off defended targets may drop their bombs elsewhere requires an appreciation of the danger in all rural areas of Illinois," Woodward said.

Almost any kind of shelter can reduce the danger from fall-out. Even a frame house will give some protection, Woodward said. A basement is better, and a simple underground shelter with three feet of earth covering will give complete protection.

Return Body of S-1-c George Dean To Creal Springs

The body of S-1-c George Dean of Creal Springs, who was killed in action in Korea on August 15, 1950, will arrive in Marion at midnight on Dec. 1.

It will be taken to the Cosby funeral home in Creal Springs and from there taken to the home of a brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor in Creal Springs.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Creal Springs Methodist church. Rev. J. T. Bryant of Flora, assisted by the church pastor, Rev. Glen Burg, will officiate, and burial will be in the County Line cemetery with full military rites by the Creal Springs post No. 9763 of the VFW.

Investigate Other Deaths

Officers then put her to bed, although they continued investigation regarding the mysterious deaths of other relatives, including her father, mother, two sisters, two daughters and a step-grandson.

Mrs. Doss, who has a sixth grade education, confessed she killed:

Husband No. 2 — Frank Harrelson, of Anniston, Ala., by pouring liquid arsenic rat poison in his today, said, "She gave us a different reason for killing every one of them."

Husband No. 3 — Harley Lanning, Lexington, N. C. (1947-52), by treating his food with the same poison. She said he held a wild party while she was away from home "and the law came out there and took the men and women out of bed."

Lexington authorities were to exhume his body today for chemical tests.

Poison In Coffee
Husband No. 4 — Richard L. Morton (1953), 63, of Emporia, Kan., and No. 5 — Sam Doss (1954), 58, of Tulsa, by pouring liquid rat poison in their coffee.

The round faced widow, who said she met Morton through a "lonely hearts club," said she poisoned Morton because he ran around with other women.

As for Doss, her latest bridegroom, she said he wouldn't buy her a television set and "he got on my nerves." She said she dumped a "big dose" of poison on a dish of pears consumed by Doss. He spent 23 days in a hospital. The day he arrived home she put two spoons of rat poison in his coffee, police said. He died two days later.

10 Boys Admit
Breaking Windows

City police Saturday rounded up ten boys ranging in ages from 6 to 16 years after two of them had built a fire on the floor of an abandoned house.

The boys admitted to the police that they had been breaking out the glass in windows at the Harrisburg Mill and Elevator Co. Their parents were contacted and they agreed to take care of the damage.

Mill employees Saturday saw a fire in the vacant house nearby and hastened to it, where they found two boys, ages 6 and ten. They extinguished the blaze and called police. Upon questioning them, the police learned that they and several more were involved in the window-breaking.

Return Body of S-1-c George Dean To Creal Springs

The charge against Jarvis was preferred by Brig. Gen. J. Clifford Hodgin of Peoria, commander of the 33rd Division, under the Illinois military and naval code.

Hodgin refused Jarvis' request to remain home for business reasons three days before the division went to camp last July 10.

Jarvis, a wholesale tobacco dealer, said he was forced to remain in Cairo to protect a new business venture in which he invested his life savings and $8,000 borrowed from a bank.

Hodgin said he would not grant leave to any senior commander, and in August asked for Jarvis' resignation.

Boles, in defending Jarvis, said "You can't expect men on three days' notice to walk out on their obligations to their family or their bank. Men will not soldier under such conditions. A commander should recognize that loyalty works down as well as up. He can't be dictatorial in the guard. This is important to the future of the guard."

The recommendation of the board will not be announced, but will be made directly through the adjutant general to Gov. William G. Stratton as commander in chief.

The 33rd became Illinois' only division when Stratton dissolved the 44th, which Boles commanded.

Seven Killed In Week End Plane Crashes

By United Press
Seven persons were killed in three plane crashes in Indiana, Michigan and Illinois over the week end.

A Columbus, Ohio, couple and their two daughters were killed instantly Sunday when their private plane plunged into a woods seven miles southwest of Wabash, Ind.

The victims were Henry Markiewicz, 40, his wife, Josephine, 40, and their two daughters, Elaine, 16, and June, 11.

Authorities said the Markiewicz family had spent the Thanksgiving holiday with relatives in Wausau, Wis., and were en route home.

An Akron, Ohio, minister and his brother were killed when their private plane crashed Sunday in a farm field near the Indiana-Michigan border.

Police identified the victims as the Rev. Frank Raold Grunder, 43, pastor of Akron Unity church, and Alfred B. Grunder, his brother. Their plane crashed in a rain storm east of New Buffalo, Mich.

An Air Force pilot, who "scrambled" into the air in an F80 Sabrejet to track down an unidentified plane, was killed Saturday night when his jet crashed while returning for a landing at O'Hare International Airport in Chicago.

The victim was 1st Lt. Burton A. Smith, 25, of Des Plaines, Ill. Smith's plane crashed and exploded in a cornfield a short distance from the runway of O'Hare Field.

An O'Hare spokesman said the unidentified plane was found to be an airliner slightly off course.

William Lambton, 73, Former Resident, Dies at Phoenix, Ariz.

William Lambton, 73, former resident of Harrisburg, died Saturday afternoon in Phoenix, Ariz., where he had made his home since the death of his wife in 1946.

Surviving are seven sons: Richard of Bedford, Ind.; Roy of Griffith, Ind.; Joseph of San Lorenzo, Calif.; George of Berkeley, Calif.; Robert, Dennis and Earl, all of Chicago.

The body will arrive in Harrisburg Thursday and after 7 p. m. that day will lie in state at the Gibbons funeral chapel.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Boles Defends Jarvis Against AWOL Charges

Says Guardsmen Will Not Soldier Under Dictatorial Conditions

CHICAGO (AP)—The former commander of the Illinois National Guard's 44th division denounced AWOL charges preferred against Col. Richard L. Jarvis of Cairo, Ill., before a special board of inquiry this weekend.

Maj. Gen. Harry L. Boles, who commanded the now extinct 44th downstate division during the Korean war, declared that guardsmen in Illinois "will not soldier under the dictatorial" conditions which led to the charges against Jarvis.

Boles appeared as a defense witness for Jarvis, commander of the 130th Infantry, before a board of three officers.

It was the first time in modern guard history that a board has been formed to determine if an officer is "undesirable" as a commander.

The charge against Jarvis was preferred by Brig. Gen. J. Clifford Hodgin of Peoria, commander of the 33rd Division, under the Illinois military and naval code.

Hodgin refused Jarvis' request to remain home for business reasons three days before the division went to camp last July 10.

Jarvis, a wholesale tobacco dealer, said he was forced to remain in Cairo to protect a new business venture in which he invested his life savings and $8,000 borrowed from a bank.

Hodgin said he would not grant leave to any senior commander, and in August asked for Jarvis' resignation.

Boles, in defending Jarvis, said "You can't expect men on three days' notice to walk out on their obligations to their family or their bank. Men will not soldier under such conditions. A commander should recognize that loyalty works down as well as up. He can't be dictatorial in the guard. This is important to the future of the guard."

The recommendation of the board will not be announced, but will be made directly through the adjutant general to Gov. William G. Stratton as commander in chief.

The 33rd became Illinois' only division when Stratton dissolved the 44th, which Boles commanded.

John W. Biggers Is Sworn In as Attorney-at-Law

John W. Biggers, of Harrisburg, was officially sworn in as an attorney-at-law last Friday, by Illinois Supreme Court Justice Ralph L. Maxwell, at Nashville, and will establish his law practice in Harrisburg in the very near future.

Mr. Biggers, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Biggers of this city, graduated from the University of Illinois School of Law in June, and passed the Illinois State Bar examination in September. He is an HTHS graduate of 1948.

Present when Mr. Biggers took his oath as an attorney were his father; and three officers of the Illinois Masonic Grand Lodge, Carroll T. Hughes, Jacksonville, Grand master; Richard C. Davenport, Harrisburg, Grand secretary; and Paul Stephens, Rushville, Junior Grand warden, who were in Nashville Friday for a Masonic temple cornerstone ceremony.

A formal announcement will be made later this week as to the opening of Mr. Biggers' office, which will be located on the seventh floor of the Harrisburg National Bank building.

Damage to property has forced the city to prohibit hunting and other shooting of firearms on the city property around the reservoir and also around the New York Central reservoir.

Amos Doorn, water superintendent, said that the most recent damage occurred yesterday, when wind-pumps were shot out of the NYC pump house.

All violators to this warning will be prosecuted, Doorn said.

The property involved includes both city reservoirs, the adjacent borrow pits and the area around the NYC pond.

Dulles Expected to Lambast Red China for Refusing To Release 13 Americans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is expected to lambast Red China tonight for refusing to release 13 Americans it jailed for alleged spying.

He will deliver a major foreign policy address at 9:30 p. m. CST before the Four-H Club Congress in Chicago. The speech will be primarily a broad review of recent Allied moves in the cold war. But Red China will certainly come in for some lumps.

The Peiping regime Sunday formally rejected this country's stern protest against the sentencing of the 13 Americans to prison terms ranging from four years to life. It brusquely returned the U. S. note to the British diplomat who delivered it in Peiping.

In a broadcast, Radio Peiping announced that the protest was rejected because "the evidence of the crimes in the U. S. espionage cases . . . was conclusive."

Known as Blockade

Officials here were angry at the action and a series of possible counter moves were under discussion. These ranged from asking Russia to intervene to formally presenting the case before the United Nations.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland called for a naval blockade of the China coast — by the United States alone, if necessary — to force Peiping to give up the 13 Americans as well as other U. S. missionaries and businessmen trapped in Red China.

Two Republicans — Sens. Frank Barrett (Wyo.) and Milton R. Young (N.D.) — backed Knowland. Barrett said it seems justified as long as "we stop short of anything that would lead us into an invasion over there." Young said the Communists would understand a blockade better than what the government has been doing so far.

But Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) dissented. He said he cannot see how a blockade would do the job. In his opinion, the administration is doing more good by publicizing Red China's deeds before the world.

F86 Sabrejets In Formosa to Aid Chiang Force

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Late-model F86 Sabrejets streaked into Formosa today to help Chiang Kai-shek's air force meet the Chinese Communist growing jet air fleet on equal terms.

It was expected that the famed MIG-killers of the Korean war will be thrown into action against Communist jets along the China coast in the very near future.

The number of Sabrejets in the first shipment turned over to Chiang today was withheld, but the Nationalists will receive about three squadrons, between 75 and 100 planes, in all.

Chinese craned their necks to see the long-promised addition to the Nationalist air force. The people knew the planes were Sabres as they flashed over Chiang's Taipei headquarters and the news spread through the capital.

Nationalist China has the trained pilots, and it has been estimated that six weeks will be required to check them out in the intricate Sabrejets which are more than a match for the Russian MIGs which have been supplied to the Communists.

The planes, which emerged as the best fighter craft of the Korean war, arrived after the Ministry of National Defense reported that Soviet submarines were active around Nationalist-held islands off the Chinese mainland.

A ministry announcement said the Russian submarines were carrying out suspicious activities off the Chekiang coast near Taichen and off the Fukien coast near Matsan Island.

The New York Central ticket office and Stump's Cities Service station on East Poplar street were entered Saturday night and there were attempts to break in to other places, city police reported today.

Although the combination was knocked off the safe in the NYC ticket office, nothing was taken. Money was taken from a cigarette machine at Stump's station.

Glass was broken in the rear doors at Brownie's store and the adjacent Swap Shop on Elm street but the places were not entered and it was believed the burglars were frightened away before they made entrance.

The railroad ticket office was entered by first entering the lobby through the ladies' rest room, then knocking a panel out of the door into the ticket office. There the combination was knocked off the safe in an attempt to open it but nothing was taken.

Chief of Police Loren Travelstead, who also investigated a burglary which occurred Friday night at Everybody's store on North Main street, said entrance was made through the back door there. The office was ransacked and some change taken.

Motion for Postponement Is Overruled

Dale and Bateman Are Accused Jointly Of Extortion

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Motion to postpone the trial of two AFL union leaders charged with attempted extortion of $1,030,000 were overruled today and the selection of a jury was begun.

U. S. Dist. Judge Fred L. Wham turned down the defense request for indefinite postponement after hearing arguments in his chambers. The defense contended that recent unfavorable publicity given the case prevented a fair trial and attacked the grand jury that voted the indictment as "anti-labor."

The defendants, Evan R. Dale, president of the Southern Illinois District Council of Laborers, and James Bateman, head of the pipefitters local at Murphysboro, Ill., are accused jointly in the indictment with trying to extort $1,030,000 from contractors building the 160-million dollar electric installation at Joppa, Ill.

The project, now in operation, supplies power to the Atomic Energy Commission plant at Paducah, Ky. It is owned by Electric Energy, Inc., a private power combine.

The case threatened political ramifications as the defense subpoenaed the governor, attorney general and the State Senate GOP leader as witnesses.

Postponement Asked
Dale, until recently, was influential in Republican Party affairs in southern Illinois. He lives at Carbondale, Ill.

The state officials had been scheduled to testify Tuesday but their appearance was postponed until after the government presents its evidence.

In a motion Saturday, Defense Atty. John Hoban asked the U. S. District Court to postpone the trial indefinitely on grounds that prospective jurors have been influenced "consciously and unconsciously by prejudicial and unwarranted publicity."

Hoban also charged that some members of the grand jury that indicted Dale and Bateman held anti-labor views.

Dale, a Republican political leader in the "Egypt" area of southern Illinois, also faces four other indictments charging extortion and income tax evasion.

Hoban subpoenaed Gov. William G. Stratton, Atty. Gen. Latham Castle and State Sen. George E. Drach but it was not clear whether they will appear in person or make depositions.

7 in Race for Demo Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Competition for the post of Democratic national chairman today became at least a seven-way race with the problem due to come to a head by Dec. 3-4.

On those dates the National committee will meet at New Orleans to elect a successor to Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell. It will be the first time in a quarter of a century that the Democratic National committee has had trouble in picking a chairman.

One big reason is that it is the first time in 25 years the Democrats do not have a president in the White House to dictate the decision. Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 presidential candidate who picked Mitchell for the post, has not publicly voiced any preference for a successor.

Front-runners in a big field of avowed and potential candidates are Paul M. Butler, national committeeman from Indiana; James Finnegan, president of the Philadelphia City Council, and Mike DiSalle, former federal price administrator.

Among others mentioned are Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana; former Gov. Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware; Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky, chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign committee; and F. Joseph Donohue, Washington lawyer and former District of Columbia commissioner.

What is Coexistence?

Editorial — By BRUCE BOSSAT
The term "coexistence" is being tossed around pretty freely right now. That might be all right if there was agreement on what it means, but there doesn't seem to be.

As used by men and nations in many different places, coexistence has meanings that grade from white through shades of gray to black.

To all, it appears to mean an absence of shooting war. The differences arise over what men imagine will happen or is happening while this condition of non-violence persists.

To the Soviet leaders in the Kremlin, coexistence clearly does not mean a state of happy comradeship with the free nations. It spells opportunity for conquest by nonmilitary devices, for spreading its power through use of all the economic and political wiles it can apply. It is war without guns.

In the free world, some men see coexistence as amounting to actual surrender to Communist domination, or at the very least as weak-kneed appeasement. The logic of this view is that sooner or later Communists and free men must clash in war, since to do nothing is to lose.

At the other end of the scale, there are those who look upon coexistence as practically synonymous with a glorious peace found on real understanding between East and West. These men seem willing to take Russian declarations of peaceful purpose at full value.

The people who fall in the gray zones between the extremes are neither pessimistic as the one nor as hopeful as the other.

They believe that, short of war, there is no way Communists can be brushed off this planet. In consequence, they believe that some way of living with them must be found. When they say that they do not mean living in friendship with them, or giving in to them, they mean simply existing side by side.

They have no illusions about Kremlin purposes. They know Russia is an armed camp, and that when it is not shooting it is practicing warfare on every other imaginable front.

Thus they believe we free peoples must be equipped at all times to defend ourselves, and must develop political and economic programs that will keep the vulnerable but still free sectors of the globe out of Communist hands.

By this definition of coexistence, free men are not to be sitting ducks, waiting to be surrounded by hostile animals moving ever closer. They are men alert to their peril, strong enough to meet it, aggressive enough politically and economically to help lessen the danger in the world's soft spots.

Somewhere in this middle realm lies the policy Secretary of State Dulles and his Western diplomatic collaborators are trying to lay down. They are searching for a path that can permit free men to live without guns beneath their pillows, in nightly fear of the Communist trespasser. They think it can be had without war.

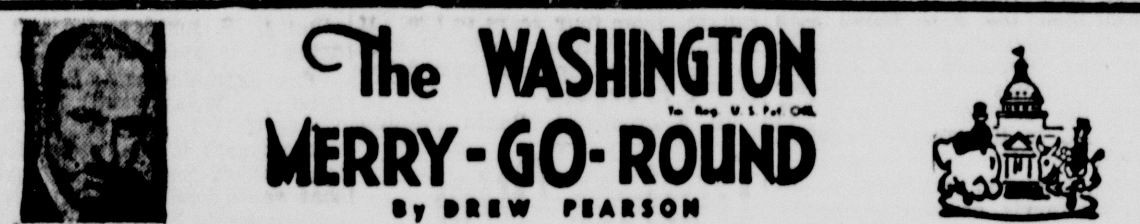

Recently the eloquent Winston Churchill voiced this hope: "We might even find ourselves, in a few years, moving along a broad causeway of peace and plenty, instead of roaming around on the rim of hell."

Forgive Us if We Seem to Be Cautious, But—

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike Will Choose Peace Or War Soon; Old Pentagon Pals Favor War — Diplomats Urge Coexistence; Officials Doubt Value Of H-Raid Plan.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is now wrestling with one of the most difficult foreign-policy decisions of his career. It's a decision even more difficult than that which he had to make on the early morning of June 6, 1944—whether to proceed with the Normandy invasion. For it could mean war fairly soon. Or it could mean possible long-term war.

The decision is: Whether to accept the olive branches dangled from the Kremlin for coexistence with Russia — olive branches that are urged upon Ike by Churchill and Mendes-France.

Or to accept the advice of his Pentagon advisers and force a halt showdown with communism in the Far East—a showdown which could lead to a preventive war.

This difficult decision is what is behind the speeches of Senate Majority Leader Knowland, who disagrees vigorously with Ike's so-called appeasement policy. This is also the reason for the return of Ambassador Bohlen from Russia—to report on the extent and sincerity of the Kremlin's bid for peaceful coexistence.

This is also why the Pentagon, which does not agree with its old military comrade—now the commander-in-chief—has been leaking stories to friendly senators on Capitol Hill.

IKE LEANS TOWARD COEXISTENCE

So far, President Eisenhower has taken a definite course toward coexistence and against his military advisers. More than on any other matter of late, he is inclined to play this policy with a lone hand. He personally overruled the joint chiefs of staff when they proposed that the USA stand and fight at Quemoy, the small Nationalist Chinese island just off the Communist Chinese mainland.

Ike has also been in personal contact with Winston Churchill and has given a tentative go-ahead to Churchill's long-cherished dream of a big four conference with Malenkov to try to end the cold war. Hitherto Eisenhower had shied away from such a meeting as a publicity sounding board for Malenkov. Now he is reported willing to cooperate provided the Kremlin shows good faith in advance.

Reason for Eisenhower's opposition to the advice of his old military friends is, first, a dread of war by a man who has seen war; second, a series of reports from the American embassy in Moscow, culminating in the personal visit this week of Ambassador Charles Bohlen.

BOHLEN'S OPTIMISM

For some time, Bohlen has been reporting optimistically regarding a new and friendlier attitude in the Kremlin. He has felt that the old, fire-eating anti-American Bolsheviks like Foreign Minister Molotov were losing out. At the recent October revolution reception, where Malenkov, after a few vodkas, talked encouragingly of American-Soviet cooperation, Molotov stood by glowering at every word Malenkov said.

Since his return to the USA, Bohlen has gone further, reports that Malenkov wants to divert Soviet war production to peacetime goods, that without consumer goods the Russian people would get increasingly restless.

U. S. military men, on the other hand, were irate and indignant when Ike glossed over the recent shooting down of an Air Force B-29 over Northern Japan. They called it cold-blooded murder, resented the fact that the U. S. ambassador was toasting Malenkov at the time of the shooting.

The Russians, they warn, are sparring for time.

And, when the time is ripe—from their point of view—diplomatic promises to American ambassadors, the Pentagon warns, will mean nothing.

That is the awesome, vital decision President Eisenhower has to make—a decision which cannot be postponed many months longer.

EXIT FROM WASHINGTON

Top Washington officials jumped into limousines and moving vans recently and scattered to secret caves and hideouts from 80 miles west to 200 miles north and south of Washington.

It was a practice H-bomb raid—to see how fast the government can decentralize and still continue to operate from scattered, underground headquarters. Civil defense authorities thought the practice raid went off fine. Others are convinced, however, that it would never work in case of a real H-bomb raid.

In case of a real attack on Washington, the top officials are supposed to get advance warning by emergency phone, then are supposed to head for their hideouts before the roads get clogged. Civil defense experts are afraid what will really happen, however, is that the top officials will jump in their cars and head home to pick up their families.

By this time, the air-raid warning will be sounded for the rest of the populace. And the officials will probably get stuck in the traffic jam like all the rest.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Congratulations to General Services Administrator Ed Mansure for packaging 3,592,000 food parcels and shipping them overseas as Christmas presents from Uncle Sam to Europe's needy families.

Texas Governor Allan Shivers sent his limousine to the Austin airport recently to meet Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. After driving the secretary around to points of interest, the chauffeur turned and explained apologetically: "We're out of gas." This in the heart of the oil and gas country!

Republican politicians are explaining privately that Sen. Irving L. Ives lost the Jewish vote—hence the New York governorship—because of Secretary of State Dulles' policy of arming the Arab nations but not Israel.

The Philadelphia Men's Fashion Council is polling Washington correspondents to find out who is the best-dressed man in the United States Senate.

George Smathers of Florida will come out near the top. Just as Secretary Dulles wants more cooperation with the Democrats, Ambassador David Bruce, now in Paris and the only top Democrat remaining in the State Department, has told the President he wants to resign in February. Bruce already is having his Georgetown home redecorated so he will be sure not to change his mind.

The U. S. government has just paid $300,000 for the house of Arvilla Bentley O'Toole, formerly Mrs. Alvin Bentley, ex-wife of the congressman from Michigan whose grandfather helped found General Motors. Arvilla is Senator McCarthy's wealthy friend whose $7,000 check to McCarthy to fight communism was used by him to speculate in soy beans instead.

Mrs. Bentley's mansion, costing the taxpayers $300,000—rather a steep price—will be given to West Germany for a new embassy. The Germans deserve the embassy because we took theirs away during the war, but some people wonder whether Mrs. Bentley deserves the price.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

Snake Bite Remedies

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

It is an age-old custom for snakes to bite people. If snakes could plead in the matter, they would doubtlessly insist that they bite only in self defense. However, that may be, snakes have long been biting people, and people have just that long been seeking cures for the bites.

The hazard of snake bites, particularly in sections infested with rattlers, was a serious one in earlier days. Newspapers often opened their columns to subscribers with something to say on the subject. It is in the 1848 file of the Prairie Farmer, even then circulating widely in southern Illinois, that much of the following is found.

Perhaps the most popular remedy was the alcohol treatment, naturally to be taken internally. By this method the victim was given copious, very copious, amounts of alcohol. According to the published account the alcohol treatment began in South Carolina during the Revolutionary War.

Soldier Bitten

A highly intoxicated soldier from a regiment stationed at Charleston fell upon a rattler and was bitten several times. This soldier was not too drunk, however, to take a few more drinks, and thus became "dead drunk." Reports state that when he sobered up no injurious effects whatever were to be noted from the bites. The venom "had lain in massive inactivity until its strength was lost."

A short time later another soldier, likewise intoxicated, was bitten by a rattler. The regimental surgeon, according to the account, recalled the wonderful recovery made by the soldier previously bitten. He gave the second soldier "whiskey by the pint," until unconsciousness resulted. Recovery was reported as complete and without any harmful effects.

Accounts of these two cases spread rapidly, and the treatment gained popularity. There are reports that men would even go hunting for poisonous snakes, incidentally taking along an ample supply of the prescribed antidote.

Discovery By Slave

Another widely acclaimed treatment was a combination of plantain and horehound juices. According to the account given, this remedy originated about the year 1800, when a slave walking along a path-way came upon a toad and a poisonous spider in deadly combat. He observed that the toad would, immediately after being bitten, retire from the fray and nibble a bit of leaf from some nearby plantain.

Being curious, the slave wished to determine whether the plantain was really the effective remedy it appeared to be. He accordingly, while the frog and spider were in active combat, pulled the plantain and threw it away. Shortly the toad was bitten again. It turned to the place where the plantain had stood, only to find none there. Without its antidote the toad promptly turned upon his back and died.

As a reward for his discovery, the slave is said to have received his freedom and a pension of $300 a year.

Other Remedies Available

Plantain was considered as highly effective. It was said that a rattlesnake covered by its leaves would show evidence of great agony and shortly die. Also plantain leaves bound about the ankles would deter the striking of the most vicious rattler.

A reader wishing to use this plantain-horehound remedy gathers equal amounts of each kind of leaves, crushes them thoroughly, squeezes out a tablespoonful of the juice and swallows it. The juice from the plantain alone, one-half tablespoonful, is considered as effective as the combination. The horehound is only to keep the victim from becoming ill.

Other remedies were available. Ira Jewell of Hickory Grove, Illinois, suggested that the parts affected should be rubbed with a solution of indigo and chamber lye. He said poultice of indigo or indigo-lard also should be bound on the wound. Others prescribed an indigo-alcohol salve. Jewell also said that snake bites produce fever and that the one bitten should be given doses of epsom salts, rhubarb tea, or castor oil.

R. Ferguson from Perryton, Illinois, advised the prompt and vigorous use of a very sharp pen knife. He stated that he always carried one and had not failed in fifty cases to save the bitten victim. According to this remedy one should vigorously jab away until blood flowed freely. Thin watery blood, or blood with a yellowish tinge, would indicate that the injected poison had been released.

Half of Chicken Used

Doctor M. D. Strong of Pulaski, Illinois, strongly urged that the wound made by the snake be cut out completely. He cited cases in which he had done so with success.

Other remedies were used. The half of a freshly killed chicken, slit vertically and lengthwise and applied immediately, was deemed excellent. A paste of alcohol and gunpowder was rated highly. A toad cut or pulled in two was about as effective as the half of chicken. The "madstone" applied to the bites of dogs was also rated as an effective remedy for snakebites.

The after-effects of a snake bite were often unpleasant. At yearly intervals a painful rash, or ulcers, sometimes occurred. A child bitten by a poisonous snake might go about catching flies between his forefinger and thumb, employing a very quick, striking motion like that of a snake. These after-effects could be avoided by having the victim drink cold tea from the roots of silene inflata or cucubulus behen.

Social and Personal Items

Potluck Supper by Naomi Ruth Class

The Naomi Ruth Sunday school class of the Pankeyville Baptist church enjoyed a potluck supper in the basement of the church Tuesday night. Following the supper the regular monthly class social was held.

The meeting which was in charge of Mrs. Blanche Lauderdale, class president, was opened with group singing of "I Am Thine Oh Lord."

Mrs. Fannie Owen and Mrs. Alta Norman led in prayer. Miss Gertrude Wasson gave the devotion, reading the 35th chapter of Isaiah as her scripture. Her remarks were in keeping with Thanksgiving and at the close of her devotion Miss Wasson asked for a testimony of thankfulness from the group. Every woman present testified of the many things in their lives for which they were thankful.

During the business session the Christmas social was planned. This also will be preceded by a potluck supper and will be Family night. All church families will be invited to attend. There will be a Christmas tree and as is the usual custom of this class boxes of fruit and dainties will be packed for all the aged people in the community.

The recreational period was a time of surprises as a group of the women presented two plays which were both comedies. Those taking part were Mrs. Blanche Lauderdale, Mrs. Alta Norman, Mrs. Bettie Norman, Mrs. Ruth Gates, Mrs. Hattie Moyer and Miss Gertrude Wasson. Mrs. Nancy Sadler and Mrs. Betty Daniels sang a duet.

Others present not mentioned before were Mrs. Lois Lane, Mrs. Stella Wallace, Mrs. Lois Horner, Mrs. Louise Allen, Mrs. Fern Waddell, Mrs. Mary Shell and Mrs. Minnie James.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McSparrin recently returned from Indianapolis, where Mrs. McSparrin went through a clinic in the Medical Center, and where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kielhorn, who formerly lived near Carrier Mills. Mr. Kielhorn is employed as supervisor for the Cornick Oil Co., with offices in Indianapolis, and oversees his company's business in Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. They have three children, Charles Leroy Jr., who is employed in Indianapolis and conducts a five piece band when he is not attending night school; Patty, high school junior who is active in the music department of her school and church and varsity cheer leader in the Ben Davis high school; and Russell, who is in the second grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald O'Toole and children, Ronnie Allen and Alice Ann, of Tilton, returned home last night after spending the Thanksgiving week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake O'Toole.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hall and Janet and Gerald spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Detroit, Mich., visiting Mrs. Hall's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cohan. Mr. Hall and Gerald went on to Alpena, Mich., on business.

Mrs. Bob Lane Hostess to Home Bureau Unit

The Town and Country Home Bureau unit held its November meeting Tuesday at the country home of Mrs. Bob Lane.

Mrs. Lane, unit chairman, presided at a short business session, following which Mrs. Bill Lands, program chairman, took charge of the meeting. "Uncooked Candies," a minor topic, was presented by Mrs. Thomas Carpenter, who demonstrated the art of making peanut butter candy.

Mrs. Bob Stout received a prize for a game conducted by Mrs. Gurn Skelley, recreation chairman, and the door prize was awarded to Mrs. Carpenter.

Potential new members present at this meeting and at a party held Friday evening in their honor at the home of Mrs. Everett Estes were Mrs. Bob Aldridge, Mrs. Ernest Armes, Mrs. Gordon Hayes, Mrs. John L. Foster, Mrs. Melton Evans, Mrs. Bob Stout and Mrs. Lowell Vaughn.

Others not already mentioned who attended were Mrs. Helen Walker, Mrs. Dorman Glass and Mrs. Ben Sisk Jr.

Wendell L. Parrish Home for Thanksgiving From U. S. Navy

Thanksgiving day was a very special occasion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Parrish, whose son, Wendell L. Parrish, SK 2, U. S. Navy, was home to spend the first holiday with his family since 1948.

Mr. Parrish has been serving in the Pacific, and a large number of relatives and friends were present to welcome him home. Included were:

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Parrish and daughters, Kathryn, Susie and Janet; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lane and children, Glenda and Gary; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wright and children, Charles, Howard, William, John and David; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wright and son, Fred; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lane and grandchildren, Janet and John Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Metcalf and Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Parrish, who recently moved from Eldorado to West Church street, Harrisburg.

Pauletta Faye Grisham Celebrates First Birthday

Pauletta Faye Grisham was a year old on November 24, and in honor of the occasion a party was held at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Langford on South Main street.

Games were played with prizes awarded to Sara Jo Brown and Judith Sutton. Pictures were taken of the children and after Pauletta's gifts were opened, a birthday cake was cut to serve with ice cream, soft drinks and mints to the following:

Sharon Ray Sutton, Judith Kay Sutton, Sara Jo Brown, Margie Kay Smith, Barbara Ann Pankey, Mrs. Aleta Pankey, Mrs. Birdie Ruth Sutton, Miss Mary Langford, Mrs. Barbara Grisham and Mr. and Mrs. Langford.

Family Reunion Held At J. B. Moore Home

For the first time in several years a family reunion was held Thanksgiving day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moore, 720 South Ledford.

Those visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Moore and children, Jeffrey, Susan, Peggy and Sallie, of Holt, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Moore and daughter, Charlotte Ann, Marion, and Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Clift and children, Harry Lee, Brenda Gay and David Raymond of Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Owen of the Bankston community had their son and daughter and their families visiting them the past week. They were Mr. and Mrs. Loren Owen and son, Duane of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Estle Conway and children, Paul Wayne, Ellen Kay and Carolyn Sue, of North Lake Village, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hicks and daughter, Jeanine, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hicks and children, Barbara and Jimmie, South Be nd, Ind., spent Thanksgiving week end in Harrisburg, visiting Mrs. Elva Pankey, Mrs. Alta Cummins, Mrs. Sadie Shewmaker, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bristow. They are former residents of Harrisburg.

A THANKSGIVING CHRISTMAS—Thanksgiving Day in Silvis, Illinois, found reporter Bob Nourse, dressed as Santa Claus, bringing presents to 5-year-old Sylvester Weidner, Jr., who is not expected to live until Christmas because of a brain disease which is incurable. Santa brought gifts from several states which were received after radio station KSTT, Davenport, Iowa, sent out an appeal on the United Press radio wires. (NEA Telephoto)

Doris Jean Boatright Celebrates Tenth Birthday

The tenth birthday of Doris Jean Boatright was celebrated Friday afternoon at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Zola Sloan, 317 West Raymond street.

Bingo, with all receiving a prize, was enjoyed by the group, as were tape recordings made of each one. Mrs. Sloan was assisted by Mrs. Ethel Boatright and daughter, Barbara, in serving sandwiches, cake and soft drinks, after Doris Jean had opened an array of gifts from the following:

Linda Riegel, Carol Rutherford, Joene Chase, Modene Melton, Patricia Merrow, Susan Hamby, Greta Aldridge, Stanley Wilson, Mike Johnson, James Smith, Lindell Jones, Glendell Jones, Glen Daugherty Jr., Lewis Delane Boatright and Dewey Boatright.

Miss Billie June Markum And Charles Marshall Married

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Marshall announce the marriage of their son, Charles, and Miss Billie June Markum, daughter of James Markum of Peoria and Mrs. Freda Blackwell of Eldorado.

The ceremony was performed Oct. 16 at Vienna, with Rev. R. F. Richardson, Baptist minister, reading the marriage vows.

Mr. Marshall is employed at Metropolis and the couple is now residing in the Hauptmann apartment on South McKinley avenue.

Wedding Shower For Mrs. Claude Garrett Jr.

A wedding shower and farewell party was given Nov. 20 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson near Eldorado in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Alma Jean Garrett. Mrs. Garrett's husband, A. 2c Claude A. Garrett Jr. is stationed at Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso, Texas, and Mrs. Garrett will join him there to reside for one year while he completes military service.

Present with gifts and best wishes were Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bramlet, Mrs. Belva Morris, Miss Doris Morris, Mrs. Eva Roberts, Mrs. Helen Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grubbs and son, Harvey, Mrs. Clara Grubbs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wathen, Mrs. Jean Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Smith and children, Bob, Lana and Judy of Valier, and Miss Barbara Johnson.

Others sent gifts who could not be present.

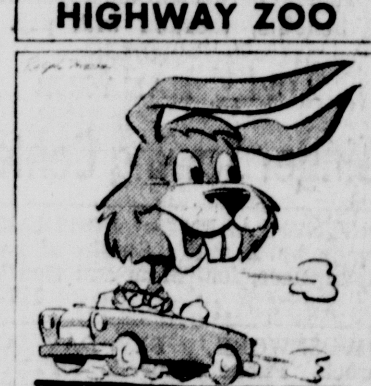

Frank Wathen won a door prize and others received prizes for games enjoyed by the group in attendance, to whom refreshments were served.

Mrs. Mabel Simmons, former resident of Galatia, has recovered enough from surgery to return to her home, 1804 South Twelfth street, Charleston, Ill., and wishes to thank all of her many friends who sent cards and letters during her serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stout and a woman friend from St. Louis, and a Mr. Dixon from Belleville, visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hobbs, 630 North Webster street.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Abney returned this morning to Chicago after spending the week end in Harrisburg visiting his mother, Mrs. Nellie Abney, and other relatives.

Adenauer Loses Hesse Election To Socialists

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats suffered a punishing defeat by the powerful Socialists in Hesse province in a Sunday election that showed the rearmament issue still a big question mark.

At the same time, Adenauer's party scored an impressive victory in crucial state elections in neighboring Bavaria.

By emerging again as the top party in Hesse, the Socialists wrecked Adenauer's hope of ousting them decisively from a state they have ruled since 1945.

But once more the Socialists failed to gain absolute control of the Hesse legislature and won with fewer votes than in their 1950 landslide but regained most of the losses they suffered in last year's general election.

Neither the Socialists nor the Christian Democrats were in a position to form a new Hesse government without a coalition of their allies.

Adenauer had hoped to score victories both in Hesse and Bavaria as a sweeping popular endorsement of both German rearmament and his agreement for temporary internationalization of the Saarland.

The chancellor had stumped for these issues in a whirlwind campaign in Hesse, where he thought the Christian Democrats might win, considering the Socialists' poor showing in 1953.

But the split decision in the two provinces failed to get a clearcut endorsement. Both Socialists and Christian Democrats claimed their successes showed that at best the status quo would be maintained on the Saar and rearmament questions.

Thus results of the election were not expected to have a decisive effect on ratification debates scheduled to begin in Bonn on Dec. 13.

With 80 per cent of the votes counted in Bavaria, the Christian Democrats won 40 per cent, the Socialists 26.2 and the Bavarian party 13.5. Percentages only were announced by the election office.

This Christian Democratic victory gave Adenauer continued control of West Germany's upper house of parliament, the Bundesrat, and assured passage of constitutional legislation.

In Hesse, the Social Democrats won 42.6 of the popular vote while the Christian Democrats received only 24.1. The Free Democrats picked up 20.5 per cent of the ballots. This victory will give the Socialists 44 seats in the Hesse legislature and the Christian Democrats 24.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

The New State Blue Book, Coming Off Press in January, Will Feature Lincoln-Douglas Debates

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The Illinois 1953-54 Blue Book will have a Lincoln-Douglas Look. Edited by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline, and scheduled to come off the press in January, it will feature the Lincoln-Douglas debates in a 30-page article as well as contain the latest data on state and local government. The Blue Book is recognized generally as a convenient source of official information on state executive, judicial and legislative departments.

The approximate 850 pages of the book, published every two years, will include a review of 1953-54. It will be about the same size of previous blue book, be somewhat similar to its predecessors as to format and choice of type matter but will contain a greater variety of subjects. The material, according to Secretary Carpenter, has been carefully chosen to serve not only as a handbook and directory of the organization and personnel of Illinois government but as a reference for educational institutions as well.

Outstanding among the new features of the Blue Book will be the article concerning the Lincoln debates of 1858 which Secretary Carpenter believes truly establishes Illinois as "the Land of Lincoln."

The article is by Harry E. Pratt, Springfield, the state's historian. It is illustrated with old and rare cuts of the various sites in Illinois where Lincoln and Douglas focused attention of the nation on the state.

Historically, the great debates are centered around the seven joint debates and the Chicago-Springfield speeches, but the Blue Book article points out that speeches and appearances of the two Illinois greats of nearly a century ago were made in more than 75 towns and in half of the 100 counties then comprising Illinois. Also included in the article are maps which show the campaign tours in those days.

The 1953-54 Blue Book for which much of the research was done by Joseph Jones, a former Springfield newspaperman, embodies some of the newest techniques of typographical art. The frontispiece is a color reproduction of the famous Story portrait of Abraham Lincoln. The state's symbols — bird, flower and tree — are brought together on one page in natural color for the first time. It also includes a new color of Illinois magnificent capitol.

Newspapers, radio stations and television channels along with a story about Illinois press associations and the Division of Departmental Reports, publicity arm for departments, division and agencies under Gov. William G. Stratton, are combined in one section. State house and General Assembly correspondents are listed by name and photograph.

Also featured in the book is an article by Brig. Gen. Robert M. Woodward, Chicago, director of the Illinois Civil Defense Agency. The article lists objectives of the agency which broadly speaking, are preparation to protect the populace and minimize attack; the training and equipping of defense volunteers; the procuring of supplies and equipment; and the dissemination of public information.

The Blue Book concludes with the "Land of Lincoln" silhouette (printed on nearly all of Secretary Carpenter's publications) along with an explanation of how it came to be adopted as a standard trademark on state automobile license plates and material emanating from Carpenter's office. The publication, first printed in 1861 as a slim volume listing only the legislative officers, has reflected over the years the physical and political expansion of Illinois government.

Today the Blue Book is the state's outstanding publication. The number of copies printed totals about 35,000 and are usually in demand by all school and public libraries. The earlier Blue Books were privately published until 1899 when then Secretary of State James A. Rose induced the General Assembly to pass a law authorizing the publication. It was under Rose that it was expanded from a mere catalog of names to become an illustrated section on enamel paper for the first time of the functions of the various departments of state government.

Chicago Alderman Robert E. Merriam, independent Democrat, reportedly has the nod from Gov. William G. Stratton for the Republican nomination for mayor of that city. Democrat regulars may draft Cook County Clerk Richard J. Daley but former Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett and Cook County State's Atty. John Gutknecht have strong backing. Former State Sen. Walker Butler may be a GOP candidate.

Four northern Illinois counties which are suspect by Democrats seeking state office are DuPage, Lake, Winnebago and Kane. Democrats feel county clerks in these counties hold back election returns too long, and may sponsor legislation to strengthen the state election laws. Robert E. Willis, Anna, campaign manager for David Mallett, East St. Louis, Democrat candidate for state treasurer, implied the returns are held back for skulduggery purposes.

"Vest pocket" senatorial districts are sure of another last fling at being the balance of power in the Republican controlled House of the General Assembly. With 80 Republicans to 73 Democrats the six Republican members will have an important say in Republican planning in the House and especially in senatorial reapportionment.

Population of the entire six districts is about equivalent to the population of one normal district but still substantially lower than that of the 7th Cook county district which has a population of close to a million. All six Republicans from the "vest pocket" district are minority members from the districts. Democrats elect two in each of the districts.

Manion Urges TVA Liquidation

CHICAGO (AP) — Clarence E. Manion, former chairman of President Eisenhower's Inter-governmental Relations Commission, has called for the "complete liquidation" of the Tennessee Valley Authority through sale to private interests.

Manion, now co-chairman of "For America," said in a radio broadcast that the government must sell TVA or "prepare to socialize all of the power-producing facilities of the entire country."

"Today the question is—can the 'creeping socialism' of the Tennessee Valley Authority be halted or must it gallop, nationwide, over the fields of atomic energy and electric power development?" Manion said.

Mother of Three Children On Trial For Life in Slaying of Husband

BULLETIN
SALEM, Mass. (AP) — Pretty Mrs. Lorraine Clark, accused of killing her husband last Palm Sunday weekend, was sentenced to life imprisonment today after pleading guilty to second degree murder.

SALEM, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. Lorraine Clark, a striking brunette mother of three children, goes on trial for her life today accused of slaying her husband. She is awaiting trial also on an adultery charge.

The 28-year-old mother could be the first woman ever electrocuted in Massachusetts if convicted. The jury would have the option of recommending a life sentence.

The state charges Mrs. Clark shot and stabbed to death Melvin W. Clark Jr., 29-year-old factory foreman, in their Lake Attitash cottage in nearby Amesbury April 10.

Defense Counsel C. Francis Leary said selection of 12 jurors and two alternates from a panel of 100 veniremen, 25 more than required, might take a week. Both prosecution and defense have the privilege of unlimited challenges for cause and 14 peremptory challenges by which a juror can be dismissed without explanation.

State Claims Confession
In an alleged confession after her arrest June 26, Mrs. Clark was quoted as admitting she killed Clark and dumped his body in the Merrimack River in nearby West Newbury.

The body, identified from a single fingerprint that matched Clark's World War II Navy file, was spotted in a marsh by a woman bird watcher June 2, nearly eight weeks after he disappeared. A wire apparently used to hold weights to the body was wrapped around one leg.

Investigators described it as a "nearly perfect crime."

One bullet was flattened against Clark's skull and another had passed through his head. An autopsy revealed stab wounds such as may be caused by a steel knitting needle.

Mrs. Clark filed suit for divorce on grounds of cruelty soon after the alleged murder. Her petition said Clark beat her in an argument on April 11 and stormed out of the house never to return. The date of the alleged beating and the date of the murder 24 hours earlier never have been reconciled.

Lurid Reports Denied
Reports that Mrs. Clark's confession contained lurid accounts of wife-swapping parties at the cottage were denied by the state as

Big Three Submit Europe Security Plan to Russia

LONDON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France today formally submitted to Russia the proposal of French Premier Pierre Mendes-France that the Big Four foreign ministers meet after the Western European union and German rearmament plans are ratified.

The three Western powers placed their proposal before the Kremlin as part of a five-point, step-by-step program looking toward European security.

The ambassadors of the Western Big Three delivered similar notes to the Kremlin today. They proposed the foreign ministers' meeting "as soon as there appears a good chance of reaching solutions."

Today's notes laid down strict conditions which must be fulfilled before such a meeting can take place.

The notes firmly brushed aside Russia's invitation to an "all European" security conference which opened today in Moscow with only the Red satellites attending.

Included among the pre-conditions listed by the West for a Big Four all-European security conference was the signing of an Austrian peace treaty and clarification of the Soviet position on free elections for all Germany.

For a tempting glaze on fruit pies such as apple, brush the top crust with undiluted evaporated milk before baking.

However, the statement was withheld "for the sake of the Clark children" and the defense was denied a copy of it before the trial.

The widow was indicted on a first degree murder charge Sept. 17 and nearly a month later Arthur Jackson of Haverhill was arrested on five secret indictments returned by the same jury. They charged adultery four times with Mrs. Clark and once with a "Judith White" of Newburyport.

Jackson, a burly 23-year-old shoe clerk, at one time described himself as Mrs. Clark's lover and tried to give her a present in jail. She refused it.

Enrico Fermi, First Atomic Scientist, Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Private funeral services were held today for Enrico Fermi, the Italian-born scientist who unlocked the gates thru which the world entered the atomic age.

Fermi died Sunday at 53 of an incurable and spreading cancer—a disease, ironically, which he had once predicted would be controlled through by-products of atomic science.

All but Fermi's immediate family were excluded from the services today. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

The University of Chicago announced that it will hold a public memorial service Friday at 2 p. m. in Rockefeller Memorial Chapel.

Fermi held the post of Charles H. Swift Distinguished Service professor in the university's Institute for Nuclear Studies.

Only 12 days before his death, he was given the Atomic Energy Commission's first award for outstanding contribution to nuclear science. It carried with it a cash grant of $25,000.

Fermi was the first man to "split" the atom. While experimenting with neutron bombardment of elements in the periodic table, he split a uranium atom. But at the time, he thought he had produced new elements.

For these studies, he was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1938.

Later, he fled from Italy to escape the Fascist terror and became a professor of physics at Columbia university.

He made his greatest contribution to scientific knowledge in December, 1942—12 years ago—when he directed the building and activation of the world's first atomic "pile" on a squash court under the stands of the University of Chicago's Stagg Field.

There, he started the first atomic chain reaction, controlled it, and stopped it at will.

Big Ten Cage Teams Swing Into Action This Week

CHICAGO — Big Ten basketball teams swing into action this week with five clubs playing twice and every team in competition Saturday night.

Iowa, Michigan State and Ohio State open on the first night that games are permissible — Wednesday, Dec. 1—with the Hawkeyes entertaining Washington of St. Louis, Marquette at Michigan State and the Buckeyes traveling to Pittsburgh.

These three clubs plus Illinois, which plays Butler Thursday, and Purdue at Rutgers Friday, will have games on Saturday's full card as well.

Highlighting the Saturday program will be a Chicago Stadium doubleheader with Iowa meeting Loyola of Chicago and Minnesota engaging De Paul.

Other Saturday contests will be Missouri at Illinois, Valparaiso at Indiana, Pittsburgh at Michigan, Detroit at Michigan State, Western Michigan at Northwestern, Butler at Ohio State, Purdue at Pennsylvania and Wisconsin at Notre Dame.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON
I read with a great deal of interest recently the story about Alvin Dark, shortstop and field captain of the World Champion New York Giants, and his views on church attendance and related activities. The story stressed his views on giving—Dark believes in tithing, the giving of 10 per cent of his earnings—but he also believes in all other phases of Christian living. He said "... I know that leading a full Christian life has made me a better man."

A story of that type can have a tremendous influence in youngsters, who indulge in hero worship, with big league baseball stars probably the top heroes in the minds of the youth of our land.

In many cases kids look on church attendance as "sissy" stuff, but maybe a brand new outlook can be developed if these kids read that their heroes go to church as well as play championship baseball.

As I read this story by Dark I began to think about athletes and church attendance locally. You know, a majority of our high school athletes are closely associated with some church.

This year there were twenty-five members of the HTHS grid squad to receive gold footballs for victory in the Shrine football game. For the past several years I have had the privilege of teaching the high school age Sunday school class at the Presbyterian church and last Sunday four of those twenty-five gridgers were in class—John Wilson, Richard Hess, Philip Morse and Jack Wright — and they are in class almost every Sunday. Two others that are on the class roll happened to be absent last Sunday. They were the team co-captains this year—Ed Sericht and Charles Polk.

I firmly believe that a check of other Sunday school classes would account for practically the entire squad of twenty-five.

If you noticed the program for the letter-men's banquet at the Harrisburg high school recently it listed Tony Beal, as hard a hitting full-back and linebacker as you will find, to give the invocation. I am told by those present that Tony didn't just mutter a few words that had been memorized, but prayed a sincere invocation. Am also told that Tony led the Harrisburg team in prayer before each game—he didn't lead the team in a prayer for victory, but a prayer that they would play a clean, hard, sportsmanlike game and that if it was His will that the team would escape without serious injury. I think that's tops.

And this isn't just something new. Harlan Seats, an all-state guard of a few years ago, gave the invocation at the only HTHS football banquet I have had the pleasure of attending. Jim Catlin, all-state tackle of five or six years ago was a regular Sunday school and church worker, so was Dooley Gilchrist, a four-letter winner in his last year at HTHS. Bill Zimmer, Bill Bob Brown, Louie Bobka and others on some of Harrisburg's powerhouses of a few years ago were as regular in church attendance as reporting for practice. There are many others, these are just a few that come to mind.

Yes, this is a bid for Sunday school and church attendance. For those that think it is "sissy" to go to church, just read back on the names in above paragraphs. Not a sissy in the bunch but boys that have kept Harrisburg on the athletic map.

In a recent issue of The Daily Register the Chicago Daily News all-state football team was carried. However we failed to get the Mighty Mites of Illinois. They are the outstanding gridgers from the smaller schools playing football. Gene Earl of Zeigler is named on the second team as a back. Roger Buwan and Don Batteau of Elkhart and Dave Simpson of Valer received special mention. All three are backfield players.

Eagles Defeat Benton, 60-45, In Cage Opener

Eldorado Surprises Supporters with Midseason Form

Eldorado opened its 1954-55 basketball season Saturday night with a convincing 60-45 victory over the invading Benton Rangers, as a gym-packed home crowd howled its approval.

Surprising even their most rabid supporters, the Eagles played with smoothness and precision expected in midseason, but seldom seen in the opener, and controlled the game from the very start.

Benton, with a veteran squad and a starting five of non-footballers was the pregame favorite as Eldorado's squad contained only one letter winner and most of the boys had practiced only a short time—since the close of the football season.

Benton was probably weakened in the last half by the absence of Grammer, 6-4 veteran center, who fouled out. However, Eldorado had led with Grammer in the ball game and the effect his absence had on the outcome is strictly problematical.

Coach Al Adams' starting five had Lovellette at center, Whittier and Lissak at forwards and Clark and Willis at the guard posts. Whittier was the only one with varsity experience.

Play Two Games This Week
Lovellette looked especially good under the boards, Clark and Willis, comparatively small but clever ball handlers, were smooth back court operators and Whittier's all round game was tops. Lissak showed promise, but needs more work and to gain confidence. He was replaced by Laffoon, an aggressive, take-charge type of player, who contributed eight points. Woods, a junior, saw service at guard after Willis collected four fouls, and his performance assures Adams of an adequate replacement.

Eldorado had a red-hot night at the free throw line with a .650 average, connecting 26 times in 40 attempts. Benton hit a respectable .560, with 13 successful pitches in 23 tries.

Eldorado plays two games this week-end, meeting Carmi Friday and playing at Harrisburg Saturday.

Benton capped the preliminary game Saturday night 33-31. It was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way, being knotted at 17-all at the half and 25-25 after three quarters of play.

Navy to Play in Sugar Bowl After Stunning Army, 27-20; Duke Named to Orange Bowl

By United Press
Out of the surprise-studded, upset-ridden 1954 college football season, climaxed fittingly by Navy's stunning 27-20 defeat of mighty Army, today emerged this unexpected lineup for the four biggest post-season bowl games:

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.: Southern California vs. Ohio State.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans: Navy vs. Mississippi.

Cotton Bowl at Dallas: Arkansas vs. Georgia Tech.

Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.: Duke vs. Nebraska.

Navy's inspired Middies received official permission to become the first service school to go "bowl-ing" in 30 years immediately after their dramatic, nationally-televised triumph over, six-point favorite Army on Saturday. Navy Secretary Charles R. Thomas came into the dressing room with the permission and the Middies voted at once to accept the bid.

"And we're going to beat Mississippi," predicted Middle Captain Phil Monahan as his mates roared.

No Definite Policy

No service school has gone to a bowl since Navy tied Washington, 14-14, in the 1924 Rose Bowl. But Thomas disclosed the government never has had any "definite policy" banning bowl games. He denied that this year's permission will "set any precedent" and said future bowl bids will be considered separately from "year to year."

He predicted that Navy's bowl receipts, expected to be more than $100,000, would be given to charity after deduction of expenses. Navy earned what Thomas called this "fitting climax" by battling from behind to beat the Cadets. Sparking the Middies to triumph was little quarterback George Welsh who tossed three touchdown passes and scored the other six-pointer himself on a buck. Two TD passes by Welsh, countered by a scoring thrust by Army's smashing Pat Uebel, gave Navy an early 14-7 lead. Army scored twice within a minute and two seconds on another Uebel blast and a Pete Vann smash to lead, 20-14, but Welsh's scoring sneak gave Navy a 21-20 halftime lead. The second half's only score was Welsh's third touchdown after.

Duke was voted into the Orange Bowl by the Atlantic Coast Conference just 24 hours after clinching the loop's unofficial title by beating North Carolina, 47-12. Selection of the Blue Devils was a blow to Maryland, last year's national champion which had hoped to impress the conference committee by its nationally-televised rout of Missouri on Thanksgiving Day.

Pascal Leads Duke
Duke, finishing its league season unbeaten, was led to victory by halfback Bob Pascal, who scored three touchdowns on end runs.

Mississippi was picked as Navy's Sugar Bowl rival just as soon as it had beaten Mississippi State, 14-0, to clinch the Southeastern Conference crown. Ole Miss scored two touchdowns within three minutes.

U. S. Building Giant Fleet of B52 Jet Bombers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is building a $4,300,000,000 fleet of giant jet aircraft capable of delivering H-bombs, defense authorities revealed today.

Pentagon sources indicated the awesome new "retaliation" force will comprise about 350 B52 bombers, which fly more than 600 miles an hour, and 200 tankers for in-flight refueling.

The all-jet fleet will be organized into 11 wings in the Strategic Air Command. Designed for immediate counterattack from American bases if a global war starts, those wings now fly much slower B36 super bombers. The B36s now are America's chief means of delivering the H-bomb.

Officials emphasized that it will take several years to build the new multi-million-dollar jets and forge them into a fighting force. They will be long-range big brothers of the B47 Stratofort medium bombers, of which the Air Force now has 1,000 with another 1,000 to come.

The B52 Stratofort, an eight-jet monster estimated to cost eight million dollars, is in production at Boeing Airplane company's Seattle, Wash., plant and will be coming later from Boeing's second line at Wichita, Kan.

The first jet tanker, the Boeing 717, is some months away. Contracts for a larger tanker are expected to be placed soon with one of several bidders. The tankers will cost an estimated four million dollars each.

Fined

Lowell Prather, who lives north of Harrisburg, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol when arraigned before Police Magistrate Charles McKenzie, and was fined $100 and costs. He was arrested in Harrisburg Saturday night by State Policemen Roy A. Lane and Adolph Sweet.

Chrysler Seeks to Prevent Strike

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiators made a final attempt today to stave off a strike which could wreck Chrysler's comeback bid in the automotive sales field.

State and federal mediators joined Chrysler officials and CIO United Auto Workers officers in the final effort to settle issues which could idle as many as 100,000 employees.

Some 30,000 UAW members employed in the Chrysler automotive body division were ready to strike at 7 a. m. Tuesday unless settlement is reached.

Sen. Knowland Says 26 More American Civilians Held by Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said today that the State Department has given him the names of 26 more American civilians imprisoned in Communist China.

The names are in addition to those of the 13 Americans—11 military men and two civilians—who, Red China announced last week, have been imprisoned on "trumped-up" spy charges.

Knowland, who Saturday advocated a naval blockade against Red China if necessary to free the 13, said he believes all the American citizens are entitled to the protection of this government.

More than 40,000 persons throughout the world die each year from snake bites, according to the World Health Organization.
